Ex-Pastor Dies After Being Found In Blood-Stained Room

Anyone who had entered a back-room at 373 E. Butler early this week would have thought that a murder had been committed there. There were large bloodspots on the floor, and suitcases in the room had been searched.

Someone had tried to wipe the blood off the floor with old newspapers and men's underwear.

The last person to occupy the room was James McDonald, Sr., who had come to Memphis the week before from his home at 4715 S. Indiana in Chicago. A former Memphisian, he had telephoned a few days before and told his former mother-in-law, Mrs. Mary Williams of 760 Hanley, that he was coming back South.

When the visit was made to his room at 373 E. Butler on Sunday, his body was in John Gaston hospital and had been there a couple of days.

Police said that Mr. McDonald, who was 65 and former licensed minister in the Church of God in Christ, died from "natural causes." He was said to have cut himself after falling out of the bed and suffering a stroke. A woman passing on the street heard him moaning and called police.

Mrs. Gladys Anderson, a niece of Mrs. Williams, who resides at 1647 N. Hollywood, went to the hospital to identify the man after she heard a broadcast over the radio.

"When I saw him," she said, "I thought that he had been in a car wreck. There was a cut on his mouth, one over his eye and another on his neck, and scratches nearly all over his face."

Mrs. Anderson said that it had been about 10 years since she had last seen Mr. McDonald.

The dead man had not called his former mother-in-law after he reached Memphis, but was met at the station by Edward Mayhue of 307 Hernando who offered him the room not too far from the station.

Although police had overlooked it when they searched the room, Mr. McDonald's wallet was found in a Kleenex box near the head of his bed on Sunday. In it was $18 in cash, and a peddler's badge for Chicago.

Also in the wallet was a change of address notice which he had intended to mail back to Chicago, and a recently penned note which said: "Be it known, I am not receiving justice, but I will have to depend on Jesus and his mercy."

He is survived by a son, James McDonald, Jr., of Los Angeles, Calif., and two grandchildren, Miss Quincy Mae McDonald and James McDonald III, also of Los Angeles.

A burial service for Mr. McDonald was scheduled for Tuesday with the Central Funeral home of Marion, Ark., in charge of arrangements.

'Demonstrations Have Confused The Students And Parents' Says Gore

TALLAHASSEE, Florida — President of Florida A & M University, Dr. George W. Gore, Jr. last week was in the midst of trying to answer inquiries, letters, telephone calls and countercharges from parents, patrons, alumni and friends of the University—regarding the recent indefinite suspension of two student leaders in local civil rights demonstrations.

Gore's statement was in reply to many who protested against the suspension of the 2 student demonstration leaders. He tried to clarify issues for parents who have expressed concern about the school's "teaching student to demonstrate," and those who accused the school of subjecting parents to additional strain of having to raise money for fines when the ink is barely dry on loan notes for tuition.

To students and faculty members who are confused about directions to take in this era of psychological conflict, he has also addressed some basic reminders. And he pointed out guideposts for alumni who want their alma mater to be positively related to civil rights phases of the current social revolution in America.

"One primary aim of the university is to help students to cope with present and future problems of life," Dr. Gore said. "In this era of cold war and tensions it is obvious that the education of our youth must reach greater heights than ever before."

"We believe in the right of students to protest and demonstrate. Freedom of assembly and freedom of expression are fundamental rights of which we do not wish to see students deprived, but education is the primary business of the University and preparing our students to face adulthood with the best education possible is our responsibility."

"In addition to the students whose education and training are the raison d'être of the University, we have responsibility to the parents who send their children here, the taxpayers who help to make our facilities possible, and lawmakers whose duty it is to establish rules for the conduct of an orderly and democratic society.

TRIMESTER SYSTEM

"In order to receive the education that we are honor bound to provide for them, students must attend classes. Frequently we must take poorly-prepared students and try to bring them up to standard performance within the traditional four-year period. Today this is rendered doubly difficult by the acceleration demanded under our new trimester system."

Dr. Gore pointed out that the University has rules that must be observed if university status and accreditation are to be maintained by Florida A & M University.

"If accreditation is lost," he declared, "the loss will be felt by both presently enrolled students and alumni of FAMU. Our presently enrolled students will lose the opportunity for acceptable education and alumni will suffer the embarrassment of having credentials from an unaccredited institution."

TO ALL AMERICANS

"It always has been and still is a policy of Florida A & M University to dismiss students in cases of serious violation of rules only after every other avenue of discipline has been exhausted. Persons who have been protesting the treatment of the suspended students do not know that the acts for which they are given indefinite suspensions constituted only one of a series of infractions of civil and university regulations. "We are living in a period of crisis and uncertainty," he concluded, "when faculty and students are unsure and there is a general feeling of confusion as to how to proceed toward achieving the goals of first class citizenship which rightfully belong to all Americans."

Former TSU Student Blamed In Sex Crimes

Residents in the Orange Mound community were shocked last weekend when Moton Nathaniel Taylor of 2343 Brooklyn was arrested and charged with one count of criminal assault and on two charges of attempted assault.

The arrest of Taylor reportedly cleared up three of six actual or attempted sex crimes in the community.

Taylor, who is 27 and was employed as porter and carhop at a drive-in restaurant, was identified by three of the women. The other three said they were not sure that he was the man.

According to Homicide Capt. E. C. Swann, Taylor tried to molest a Negro woman in her backyard around midnight on last Wednesday. He ran when she screamed, but she was able to give police a description of him, and he was arrested early Thursday morning at his home.

KNEW HIS NAME
The woman who frightened Taylor away from her backyard was said to have known him by name. Others were able to identify him by the shape of his head.

On the night of Oct. 23, a rapist entered one of the victim's home and held a knife at her throat while he assaulted her. She was one of the three who identified Taylor.

A former student at Tennessee A & I State University, he appeared at a hearing in City Court last Saturday and was held to the state on the charges.

Despite the identification, Taylor claims he is innocent and a victim of mistaken identity.

On Monday he was held in County Jail.

IN A SURPRISE MOVE

In a surprise move, Jesse Lee Cooper (left) returns Hosea McGhee of 1539 Miller St. back to the scene of an auto accident last Saturday evening. Reportedly McGhee struck the rear of Cooper's 1959 DeSoto while it was parked on the east side of Hernando St., just south of Beale St. He jumped from the 1957 Chrysler he was driving South on Hernando, and started walking rapidly east on Beale. Cooper who lives at 480 E. Georgia Ave., overtook him on foot near S. Fourth St. and returned him to the scene of the accident. McGhee told Cooper he was headed to a cousin's house to call the police. McGhee panicked and ran into the rear of Cooper's car when a student from Ole Miss made a wrong turn at Beale and Hernando. McGhee was charged with driving without a license. The automobile bore Arkansas license. (Photo by Ernest Withers.)

THE SOCIAL PROBLEMS OF AMERICA

Social problems of America are being discussed by Whitney M. Young, executive secretary of the National Urban League, (left) with Winthrop Rockefeller who was in Memphis last Friday to address an Urban League dinner

SCEF Officials File Court Suit Against Eastland

NEW ORLEANS, La. — The Southern Conference Educational Fund, Inc., and its executive director, James A. Dombrowski, filed a suit in Federal District Court Nov. 12 attacking the constitutionality of the Louisiana Subversive Activities and Communist Control Law. The plaintiffs are asking that a three-judge Federal District Court issue a Declaratory Judgement that the law violates the constitution of the United States.

Dr. Dombrowski and New Orleans attorneys Benjamin E. Smith and Bruce C. Walters were arrested and SCEF records seized on Oct. 4 and charged with managing a "subversive organization." Arrests and seizures were made by New Orleans and State police, at the instigation of the Louisiana Joint Legislative Committee on Un-American Activities.

Charges against the three men were dismissed Oct. 25 "for lack of evidence" during a hearing before State Judge Bernard J. Cooke, but the confiscated documents have not been returned to SCEF.

On Oct. 5 SCEF's records were subpoenaed by U.S. Senator James O. Eastland's Internal Security Subcommittee of the Senate Judiciary Committee, and a number of them transferred to Washington, D. C. after Louisiana authorities had made copies for their own use.

'50 Percent Of Today's Students Will Work At Jobs Not Existing Now' Rockefeller Tells Interracial Group

Winthrop Rockefeller told a large crowd gathered at the Claridge hotel last Friday night that not enough money and time is spent on studying ways to live together better. He was the featured guest speaker at the "Equal Opportunity Day" dinner sponsored by the Memphis Urban League.

He said "The Urban League has done a good job but it has not been dramatic." He urged his interracial audience to "think what you can do to make democracy a reality for 18 million Negro people who have shown patience and belief in their country and fellowmen. He added "We should count not the differences in people but those things to which we are alike."

Rockefeller, brother of Nelson Rockefeller, governor of New York, said that 50 percent of the boys and girls in school today will be employed on jobs not in existence today. He continued "we have gathered more scientific information since World War II than all other times in the history of mankind. But how much are we spending on humanity — social science?"

LIMITED FEW

Rockefeller, chairman of the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission, participated in a meeting earlier Friday here when an advisory committee to the Urban League, formed a South-wide program for "equal opportunity." He is a board member of the National Urban League.

In concluding his speech, Rockefeller said: "I hope that the future will give us strength to include all people not just a limited few. God will give us that strength."

Also speaking was the executive secretary of the National Urban League, Whitney M. Young, Jr., of New York City; Edward J. Meeman, editor emeritus of the Press Scimitar; and Rev. James A. McDaniel, executive secretary of the Memphis Urban League.

EDWARD MEEMAN

Meeman told of the work, and incidents leading up to the start of desegregation here in Memphis. He said: "we have good race relations in Memphis. I do not ask Negroes to be contented with progress made in Memphis. I do not ask the whites to be contented. But I do ask both groups to commit themselves to working in harmony and not have violence."

While naming some of the persons who worked with the Memphis Committee on Race Relations to bring about orderly desegregation, Meeman praised Carl Carson, Commissioner Claude A. Armour and others.

Whitney Young explained that the current social revolution has been referred to by three titles: (1) Moment of Truth (2) "Year of Decision" and (3) "The Negro Revolution — Year of Equal Opportunity."

CANNOT BE STOPPED

He went on to explain that American Negroes are addressing themselves to real facts. He said "Negroes receive 3 1/2 years less education than whites; parents died seven years sooner, etc. This is a national problem, not confined to the south. It is no longer a struggle between whites and Negroes. It is a struggle between good people and callous people who are evil. The issue is not how to stop the social revolution but how to give constructive guidance to it. It cannot be stopped."

Young posed the question about how to give strength to responsible Negro leadership. He predicted that five years from now there will be opportunities for Negroes but they will not qualify unless a re-training program is started now and school drop-outs are drastically reduced.

The Urban League secretary said that the middle-class Negro has an obligation to reach down to help less fortunate Negroes and to support responsible leadership or undesirable leadership like the Black Muslims and such will give leadership.

Young praised the Rockefeller family for its time and money spent in helping to elevate the Negro in America. He said Rockefeller family did it when it was not a respectable thing to do in America.

Invocation was by Rev. S. A. Owen of Metropolitan Baptist church. Benediction was by Rev. Paul Tudor Jones, pastor of Idlewild Presbyterian church.

Toastmaster was Dr. Hollis H. Price, president of LeMoine college and chairman of the local Urban League board.

First Baptist Pastor-- Kelly Smith To Return To Nashville January

Rev. Kelly Smith, well known for his civil rights participation in the mid-South, told the Tri-State Defender by telephone Monday, that he has resigned his pastorate at Cleveland, Ohio's fashionable Antioch Baptist church with a 2600-membership to return to famous First Baptist church in Nashville, Tenn. with a 400 membership.

Dr. Smith who was installed at the Cleveland church Sept. 29 by Dr. Martin Luther King, said his resignation from Antioch is effective Dec. 31. He read his resignation during a church meeting last Wednesday night.

The tall, stately minister said his major reasons for resigning were (1) an overwhelming number of First Baptist Church's members voted for his return (413 to 12) during a Oct. 21 meeting. (2) He had an established program at First Baptist church in Nashville which is still in operation. And he doesn't have a program at Antioch because he has been there less than three months. (3) He has been offered the same salary at

First Baptist as he is now receiving at Antioch. (4) He said "I want to complete some of the things I started at First Baptist."

Rev. Smith was quick to explain "I realize that ultimately the salary at First Baptist will not be similar to what I could receive at Antioch. No doubt it will be the top salary at First Baptist while it is no doubt at the bottom at Antioch because of the vast differences in the membership."

He added: "At First Baptist the congregation was very nice concerning my salary. I never had to request or discuss salary raises." He had pastored at First Baptist 12 years.

Dr. Smith who is a trustee at Owen college here in Memphis, hasten to praise his congregation at Antioch. He said: "An overwhelming number has employed me to remain. They have been very cooperative. However, I arrived at my decision to resign after a lot of thought and prayerful consideration."

He refuted a published newspaper report that he inherited an $85,000 indebtedness at Antioch and that differences arose over methods in appointing an assistant pastor. Rev. Smith said: "The report is not true. I don't know how reporters got that story which has gone all over the country."

He filled the vacancy at Antioch created by the death of Rev. Wade McKinney.

Rev. Smith said that his wife and several children will return to Nashville with him if they can solve the "School transfer problem" during the holiday. If not, they will remain in Cleveland until the problem can be worked out.

Melrose To Meet BTW At Crump

Football... with a double emphasis on "ball" will be climaxed in the local prep league Thursday night, Nov. 21, with the return engagement of Booker T. Washington's Warriors and the Melrose Golden Wildcats. The winner will play in the Elks Blues Bowl game, a few nights later. For the first time Negro high school teams in Memphis will play in Crump stadium.

Both Melrose and Washington are tied for the 1963 gridiron championship for the city. Both have a six win one loss record for the league season now officially closed.

At the regular season game Washington's Warriors defeated the Wildcats by a score of 21-18 before an overflow crowd at Crump Stadium.

It was because of the intense interest and overflow attendance at the regular season game that it was decided to stage the second meeting at Crump Stadium.

Jesse D. Springer and Floyd M. Campbell, principals of Washington and Melrose respectively, agreed on an attendance fee of 50 cent for school children and $1 for adults in advance. All tickets will cost $1 at the gate.

Some of the city's best high school gridiron stars are members of the two teams. Oscar Reed, and Eddie Richards have been standout backfield men all season for Washington. Jimmy Ward and Bobby Smith have gained laurels for Melrose. Both teams have good record for fine offensive work.

Coach Eldridge Mitchell of Melrose, and Coach Charles Lomax of Washington are former teammates at Southern university in Louisiana.

Lane Grad Killed In Utah By Young Robber

HUMBOLDT—Funeral services for a former Humboldt citizen shot to death in Ogden, Utah, were held there recently in the city's Tabernacle with outstanding citizens on hand to pay tribute to him.

The victim was Detective Sgt. Marshall N. White, a graduate of Stigall and Lane college, who was shot and killed by a 16 year-old white youth. White and two other officers were investigating a robbery at the time.

Mrs. Pecola White, mother of the slain detective, and her sister, Mrs. Kate James, attended the funeral in Ogden.

Since the officer was killed in the line of duty, flags in Ogden flew at half staff on city buildings in memory of his sacrifice.

All top officials of Ogden, including the mayor and chief of police attended the funeral. In Washington, D.C., Representative Sherman Lloyd paid tribute to Sgt. White in Congress.

Also at the funeral were some national NAACP officers. Sgt. White was the president of the Ogden branch of the association.

He is survived by his wife and five children.

Paiges Leave Memphis For Home In Virginia

Elder C. Thomas Paige, former pastor of Riverside Christian church and writer of "The Pulpit Speaks" for the Tri-State Defender for a number of years, and his family left Memphis on Tuesday to return to his home at Phoebus, Va.

Elder Paige came to Memphis from Bishop college in Texas in 1954 to join the faculty of Owen college as its college minister and director of religious education.

In 1956 he was appointed president of the Baptist Industrial college at Hernando, Miss., and during that time brought Marian Anderson to Memphis for a benefit concert for the school.

The concert was an overwhelming success, and a large number of persons who wanted to hear Miss Anderson had to be turned away, because Bruce Hall on the campus of LeMoyne college would not accommodate them all.

TAUGHT AT RUST

Elder Paige taught at Rust college for two years and at a Shelby County school one year before assuming the pastorate of Riverside Christian church. He served the church two-and-a-half years and baptized 23 converts during that period.

The Paiges were honored at the Riverside Christian church last Friday night during a United Nations banquet, and received gifts from several organizations.

A graduate of Virginia Union university in Richmond and Temple university in Philadelphia, he plans to continue in the ministry after returning to Virginia.

He has been succeeded at Riverside by Elder Kenneth Whalum.

'Election Day Sale' But No Election

DOWN FRONT!

THE LOSS OF YOUTH can be revealed in a painful way—like playing touch-football with one's sons, reaching up to snag a pass out of the air and straining ligaments in the shoulder. How well does Ernest Withers, Sr. know this lesson? MAIN STREET-CORNER TOPIC is still talking about the results of the Nov. 7th election.

THE WORD IS OUT that Lorece Thompson, the singing dance band leader holding forth out at Curries' Club Tropicana does more singing and entertaining than supplying dance music. There is a general feeling that guest expect a Dance Band to supply a variety of dance-music whenever they attend a formal dance. They seem to resent receiving more singing than good dance-music. At a night-club they expect more entertainment than dancing.

NIGHT-SPOT SINGERS beware! your hollering instead of singing is showing. There's an under-cover dissatisfaction being voiced around town that most of the night-spot bands play too loud and the singing groups are given to more "hollering, grunting and groaning than to singing." Could it be that some of the dance-bands think that loudness is a substitute for good dance-music? Beware! your loudness and hollering are showing.

STRANGE! The old gang has not heard from William "Bille" Clarence Robinson, who used to be employed at the Big-M, since Uncle Sam grabbed him off of the street, gave him an Army-green uniform, thrust a rifle in his hands and taught him how to count, one, two, three, four, five.

Seven LeMoyné Students Named In Who's Who

Seven LeMoyné College students, six of them seniors, have been named to Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges, it was announced this week by Dean Lionel Arnold.

Chosen for the national honor are:

Family Service Techniques Frightening To Many Needy Negroes, Says UL's Young

SAN FRANCISCO — A "familiar preoccupation" with professional methods and techniques, to the exclusion of personal understanding and commitment, is blocking a large number of Negro families in destitute conditions from seeking aid from family service organizations.

That note of criticism, along with some words of admonition, was expressed last week by Whitney M. Young, Jr., of New York, executive director of the National Urban League, while addressing the 1963 biennial conference of the Family Service Association of America.

"This (tendency) accounts for part of the reason why the disadvantaged Negro citizen and his family shy away from family service," Young said. "I venture to suggest that we have come to a point where we need even more simple, down-to-earth language and personal appeal that bears some relation to the problems of the people you are trying to serve," he added.

TOO MUCH TALK Young cited the futility of trying to counsel a Negro mother about "marital stability" or how she "can get the most out of marriage" when she is carrying the family subsistence burden.

"That doesn't mean much," he declared, "to one who cannot afford the luxury of thinking about mental health when her family is undergoing great deprivation, her children are hungry and her husband is unemployed."

Young told the conferees that the Urban League is "concerned and not a little perturbed" because the image of the family

Oberlin Begins Exchange Plan With Tougaloo

A student exchange program with Tougaloo Southern Christian college in Mississippi and Oberlin college in Ohio will be available to students at Oberlin college next semester, according to Dr. Robert K. Carr, president of the Ohio school.

Final arrangements have been made with Tougaloo President A. D. Beittel and applications received from Oberlin students interested in making the exchange beginning in February 1964.

Participating students will be selected by their home institutions and will generally be from the sophomore and junior classes.

To be eligible for exchange, Oberlin students must have at least a C-plus cumulative average and continue in satisfactory academic standing in the semester just prior to exchange.

Blue-Gray Bowl Tilt TVed To Dixie Only

NEW YORK — (UPI) — The National Broadcasting Company says it has relinquished its rights to televise the Annual Blue-Gray football game to an Alabama television station for regional broadcast.

Officials of the 26-year Bowl Classic were notified last week by the network that the game would not be televised this year because Negro players were not invited to participate. The network had carried the game annually since 1954.

An NBC spokesman said the network relinquished its game rights to station WSFA-TV in Montgomery for a "nominal" fee of $100. The agreement with station WSFA-TV stipulates that the game would be telecast on a regional basis, to Alabama and possibly Georgia and Mississippi.

Carter Harwick, managing director of WSFA-TV, sought permission from NBC to carry the Dec. 28 game on a regional basis.

Carl Lindemann, vice president in charge of sports for NBC, told Harwick that the network was "willing to grant your request for origination of the game for a regional broadcast over television and radio within the state of Alabama if the Blue-Gray Association agrees, upon payment of you to us of a nominal rights fee of $100 against our previous payment of $17,000."

Lindemann said the $100 fee was merely to protect "the principle of our rights payment."

NBC also said it had agreed to permit WSFA-TV to include Georgia and Mississippi in its telecast for an additional $100 rights fee for each state.

The network spokesman said NBC personnel would not be involved in the telecast. The Montgomery station is an NBC affiliate.

He also said the network would not seek to recover its $17,000 rights payment to the Blue-Gray Association.

THE Pulpit SPEAKS

REV. C. THOMAS PAIGE

"Now the older son was in the field; and as he drew nigh to the house, he heard the music and dancing. And he called one of the servants, and asked what these things meant. And he said unto him, 'Thy brother is come; and thy father hath killed the fatted calf, because he hath received him safe and sound.' And he was angry and would not go in."

Luke 15: 26-28

The normal interpretation carries with it the idea of a villain son who — influenced by the neighborhood gossip goes to his father and gets that which belongs to him and goes out and spends it in riotous living.

Finally he comes to himself and goes back home where he is restored to fellowship except by his elder brother. As far as he was concerned there was not room enough in the house for the two of them.

NEW OUTLOOK
How true this is among many of us? But I wonder if this does not put us to wondering. The elder son boasted that he had never left home. What virtue is there in staying home if it is going to make us the hard-hearted, unyielding person that many of us are. I wonder if some of us don't need to get out and go somewhere the rough edges might be smoothed out of our lives and we become people with an entirely new outlook.

Daily we come in contact with people who have had no relationship with culture whatsoever and as a result they have no appreciation for it. The moment that something with a cultural intonation comes on the radio or television the first thing they want to do is change stations. This is equally true in education, moral and social behavior, and in the pursuit of the better things of life.

This elder brother was like many of us; he was in the field and had no intentions of going from it.

There are those of us who get too far removed from the cow-stables, hog pens, and the like. We associate with them so much until we take on a likeness to their behavior. Oftentimes life is not but a theory to many of us — far too many.

But after being knocked down and just about dragged out—life becomes something else altogether. The ideas of honesty, integrity, and the like become something new to us. The young son after en-

'Fellowship' To Meet Sunday

A meeting of the Women's Fellowship of Second Congregational church, 766 Walker Ave., has been set for Sunday, Nov. 24 at 5 p.m. in the Church's Love Hall, announces the president Mrs. A. S. Hunnicutt. Hostesses will be Mesdames Helen Prater, Althea Price, Gladys Sharp, Omega Shelto and Willye Smith.

countering what the world had to offer said to himself, "I will arise and go back to my father at home!" Something needs to happen to us of a like nature. Many of us need to get away from home and get the real nature of this world. We need to move from our home—sheltered lives and go out where the water is deep and we are exposed to the real issues of life.

If the story had any one lesson to teach to people of today it is that many of us need to get out and learn the real lessons of life. The person who fails to do this is very much akin to the brother who stayed home.

LIFE A CHALLENGE

There must be something in the lives of each of us to stimulate us to the real issues of life. Our sympathies must be developed. Our concerns and appreciation for those about us must once again stir us anew as to our real purpose in life. As short as our lives are there is no time for standing around pouting and being disgruntled because we can not have our way.

In the greatest sense of the word we must accept our lives as a God-given challenge and in turn do all that we can do to enhance God's program through all that we do. The challenge which should stir each of us as we read and re-read this account is wrapped up in the fact that we must oftentimes go out of our little provinces and see how other people do things and in turn let their lives serve as a positive stimulus in our lives.

and a downtown restaurant were the first by Negroes in Eastern Arkansas, where segregation is as solid as in Mississippi.

Bill Hansen, 24, a white field secretary for the Student Non-violent Coordinating Committee, was arrested at a Negro cafe where he came to use the telephone. Police said he abused the Negro proprietor.

Hansen, a native of Cincinnati, said he was married Oct. 12 to Ruth Buffington, a Pine Bluff, Ark., Negro who is also a SNCC field secretary. She remained in Pine Bluff.

Bruce Jordan, 19, of Pine Bluff, another SNCC field secretary, said police used abusive language to Hansen when they arrested him and asked him why he was "riding around in cars with niggers."

Police did not give what charges, if any, were filed against Hansen. The Negroes were charged with disturbing the peace. Noah Washington, 20, also of Pine Bluff, another SNCC field secretary, was charged with refusing to leave the premises, vagrancy, inciting others to violate the law and breach of the peace. He was held on $50 bond on each charge.

U. S. Goal: Equal Rights Says Rusk

GETTYSBURG, Pa. — (UPI) — Sec. of State Dean Rusk said the United States would not be at ease until all of its citizens enjoy equal rights, a goal Abraham Lincoln set 100 years ago.

Rusk told a Gettysburg College audience celebrating the 100th anniversary of Lincoln's Gettysburg Address that "it is past time to complete the task which Lincoln began with the Emancipation Proclamation."

"The rest of the world is watching closely the struggle for full equality in this country," he said. "Our failures distress our friends and hearten our enemies."

SERVING 1,000,000 NEGROES IN THE TRI-STATE AREA

Election Post Mortem:

In the last paragraph of the first in this series, it was stated: "Some politicians are interpreting Commissioner William Farris' and Sheriff M. A. Hinds' defeat as a 'slap by Negro voters' at their political leaders. And there are growing rumors that a group of white politicians are discussing the possibility of 'dumping' some of the Negro politicians because they have failed to rally the greatest number of voters behind them."

There is also talk about a new political approach for a "new day" in Memphis politics. The "dumping" remark was aimed at the "two-time" losers, because it has become painfully obvious that the would-be political powers are not penetrating into the heart of voters at the grass-root level. Thus, political leaders without followers become non-entities in political races. More over it is felt that Mayor-elect William B. Ingram received a number of anti-political leader votes—and not necessarily anti-Farris votes. The man-in-the-street revolted against leadership he considered of working in the best of his interest.

Moreover Ingram created the "age of fighting for the 'just' uses" of the "little man."

Several defeated candidates have expressed the feeling that they were "double-crossed" by backers who lead them to believe that they were able to carry heavily populated Wards, but election returns indicated otherwise.

These same angry losers have it to be known that they are not for "a pound of flesh," nearest to the heart of their double-crossers. At the same time they will bend every effort to create new, substantial political ties.

Concerning the New Political approach — efforts will be made to interpret the meaning of a few political terms — endorsement, recommendation and political support. (1) Endorsement from an individual, group of individuals or an organization will mean that a candidate is promised votes. (2) Recommendation will mean that the candidate will be promised the vote of the endorsee plus a push for others to vote for the candidate. And (3) Endorsement, recommendation and support will mean going all the way with a candidate without the expectation of pay for every vote obtained.

The "New Day" will also mean that Negroes must be considered and will be expected to share in the "spoils of victory" — appointive jobs, patronage and other considerations which are accorded any other group working on a winning team.

Scurrilous campaign literature damage the image of an "innocent by-stander" — the local NAACP which does not endorse political candidates nor working in political campaigns. It came about in this manner: The Shelby County Democratic club is accused of distributing some campaign literature about Ingram and Hinds, aimed at discrediting them with voters. Immediately after that leaflets stating: "Attention All Citizens! William (Bill) Farris and John Ford Canale Are Endorsed and Supported by the NAACP." It went on to state "It has been reported to us that they promised if elected to completely integrate our city within four years." The leaflets were signed: "A Small Group of Thinking Citizens."

The leaflets were distributed in sections predominantly populated by white citizens. Several Negroes and two major white candidates are suspected of engineering the compilation and distribution of the literature which did not harm the NAACP members mentioned, Jesse Turner, Russell Sugarmon, Atty. A. W. Willis, Atty. H. T. Lockard and A. Maceo Walker, but did do — harm to the candidacy of Farris and Canale as well as to the civil rights cause, opposed by the NAACP.

Scurrilous literature — if advisable at all — should be used by candidates against each other only. Supports of candidates and campaign workers should leave that to the candidates themselves.

The next issue: "What Is Expected of Our Elected Officials."

Wallace At Harvard

The Harvard-Radcliffe Young Democrats Club reached a new low on the intellectual totem pole when it allowed Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama to mount the rostrum and address the club on his pet peeve: "The Supreme Court's school desegregation decision of 1954."

The arch segregationist of the Deep South wailed, "Never in our history has it happened that he court lacks a single man distinguished as a lawyer before us calling to the bench. Each man carried to the court with him a cause to serve other than the cause of justice under law."

This damnable misrepresentation could only have been issued from the emotional frame-work of a disordered mind. The court is teeming with men who were distinguished in the legal profession long before they ascended the Supreme Court bench.

In fact it was largely on the basic of their legal scholarship and wisdom that they were given the nod for membership on that exalted tribunal.

Wallace, who is accustomed to distort the truth to suit his own evil purposes, went out of his way to by-pass the real facts about the eminence of the Court's justices he chose to attack.

Lacking the legal mentality to frame on high ground the nature of his disagreement with the Court's desegregation ruling, the pint-sized Alabama Governor turned his wrath on the collective membership of the Supreme Court.

Though he was hissed, he was also applauded by the members of the club. The irony of it all is that Sanders Theatre, where Wallace spoke, is part of Memorial Hall which was dedicated to the memory of Harvard men who died in the Civil War.

A Presbyterian Stand

There are encouraging signs that the racial fog of the religious front is receding. A recent proof of this is reflected in the New York City's Presbytery's unanimous nomination of a Negro minister from the Bronx as candidate for moderator of the General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church. This is the highest elective office in the denomination.

A total of 270 ministers, elders and ordained members of the Presbytery's nominee, the Rev. Elder G. Hawkins, wins the election he will be the first Negro to preside over the 3,276,000-member church body.

The Presbytery of New York City represents all the 120 churches in the five boroughs. The General Assembly is the church's national governing body and the moderator its spiritual leader as well as the presiding officer at the denomination's annual meetings, where the church passes on budgets and takes stands on issues.

Three years ago in Cleveland, Mr. Hawkins was nominated for the top Presbyterian post, but lost to the Rev. Dr. Herman L. Turner of Atlanta in one of the closest elections ever held in the denomination. Dr. Turner defeated Mr. Hawkins, 471 to 469.

Both nominees had declared publicly before the election that they were committed to the principle of a non-segregated church in a non-segregated society.

This is indeed a healthy sign that the Christian church at last is willing to take its stand on the battlefield of social justice and freedom. Had that leadership come forward sooner, America might have been spared the anguish and ordeal of the unfinished business on human equality.

Know The Negro

By AL DUCKETT

A HIPSTER'S FABLES

IN THE year 1963 there was a Citizen who had come to the land three hundred and fifty years ago. He had arrived, chaperoned by some fierce, strange men who had visited his native country and taken him captive. His captors threw him into stinking ship holds, shackled him in chains and brought him to this land to be placed on auction.

The Citizen, who was dark-complected, was sold to other men and women who were fair in color. The Citizen was naked when he was sold. The purpose of his nakedness was obvious. The display of his strong muscles and sound body brought superior prices.

After he had been sold to a master, the Citizen was allowed to put on work clothes but he still felt naked. For he saw all the shining garments of freedom and opportunity which were worn by his white masters.

For years the Citizen plowed and toiled and bled from the lashing of whips and walked with his head bowed and saddened. Then one day, some terrible fighting broke out among the whites, citizens of both North and South of the land.

Before the fighting was over, a tall man with a gaunt face wrote a paper which said that the Citizen should henceforth and forevermore, be entitled to wear the fine clothes of freedom.

THE HEART of the Citizen was gladdened when the great news spread throughout the land. Hastily, and with a song bursting from his lungs, he prepared to put on the finery of freedom.

For a few seasons, he felt warm and good to have covered up his nakedness. Many of the white citizens congratulated him upon how handsome he looked.

But the winds of ignorance — his own and that of many of the white citizens — were still howling about the land and the winters of lack of opportunity and exploitation chilled his bones.

The Citizen desperately wanted to stop some passerby and to say "See, I have been given new clothes, but I am still naked." But white citizens and some of the superior black citizens who had gone to school or who had a prominent white citizen for a sponsor, kept telling him he was not naked.

So the poor Citizen tried to convince himself that he was warm and comfortable in his new clothes.

THE YEARS went by and the Citizen continued to shiver. The more chilled he grew, the louder swelled the chorus in the land, calling attention to his fine, new clothes.

ONE DAY, in a lofty court room, some wise old Senior Citizens wrote another paper which, somehow, seemed to contradict the paper written by the gaunt, tall man who had been dead for many years.

This new paper stated that, although the Citizen might wear the garments of freedom, he must not have the same type rainment as his wife Citizen brother. His clothes might be as fine as those of his white brother, the wise men said, but they must not be the same.

The Citizen could not understand how clothes could be as fine as other clothes and not the same. But, knowing he was ignorant, he shrugged his freezing shoulders and moved on through the wintry blasts, hoping he would some day acquire the wisdom to be warm.

Years rolled by and nine different wise men came into power. It was evident that they agreed the Citizen's clothes were not at all adequate. For, they wrote a third paper saying that the Citizen must have the right to share the same fine clothes his white brother wore.

NOW THE Citizen felt that he had been accepted into the human race. But, in the Southernmost part of the land, angry citizens rebelled against the nine old men.

Although, once in a while, someone would toss the Citizen an old sock or a second-hand scarf, his neighbors continued to refuse him the right to share their clothes.

In the Northern part of the land, the Citizen was not refused clothes, only the right to wear them. And still, many people kept congratulating the Citizen on the fact that he had received his due.

One day, a new and youthful Head Citizen stormed throughout the land, promising that if he were made the Boss, he would see to it that the Citizen got all his clothes.

The Head Citizen, seemingly, wanted to keep his promise but there were some Assistant Republican Head Citizens and Assistant Democrat Head Citizens — the fellows who made the rules — who got into such an uproar about the whole situation that it began to look very much as if the Citizen would remain naked all the rest of his days.

DURING THE summer of 1963, something happened to the Citizen to make him believe he was no longer ignorant. His frozen body and his chilled heart began to throb with the rhythm of revolt.

All throughout the land, he and his naked black brothers began to arise and shout: "You have lied to us. We have no new clothes. We are still naked. Live or die, we shall go naked no longer."

When last seen, the Citizen was marching, hundreds of thousands strong, crying out to the world: "See, I am still naked."

And, in the background, in a spangled chorus, his neighbors were responding: "But look! See all the fine clothes we have given you."

DARK SHADOWS

by NAT D. WILLIAMS

WHO'S "RESPONSIBLE"?

The other night, in a short speech here in Memphis, Whitney M. Young, Jr., executive secretary of the National Urban League, delivered a short speech that had some long points.

He made his points while interpreting the philosophy and role of the Urban League in helping the Negro in the United States to attain his goal of first class citizenship.

Incidentally, for the benefit of the more or less disinterested or uninformed, the Urban League is a nation-wide organization, dating from a respectable length of years back, which has a program of quiet and persuasive urging of American business and professional organizations to help train and hire Negroes, in their ranks.

'ECONOMIC SECURITY'

From where the "Shadows" see it, that's where the "water hits the wheel." The Urban League works for the economic security of the Negro. It makes the realistic approach based on the recognition of the fact that "the man who pays the fiddler dictates the tune."

Mr. Young gave due and deserved recognition to other organizations which are working to advance the Negro's aspirations and goals. But he kept emphasizing one expression — "responsible leadership."

He conceded that there is a need for the program and technique of the NAACP. He indicated respect for Rev. Martin L. King's techniques. He really didn't disparage the work of any groups working for the solution of America's Number One domestic problem — this matter of race relations. But he had no "praise" for the Black Muslims.

RACE-CREED-COLOR

And that brings up the core of this splurge... or article... if you'll call it that. The core is that expression "responsible leadership."

RESPONSIBLE LEADERSHIP

Who is a "responsible" Negro leader in Memphis... or anywhere else in the United States? What is meant by "responsible leadership"? Does it mean the loud-mouth guys who spout asinine "nothings" about "our rights" every time they get a chance to mess with an audience of Negroes? Does "responsible leadership" refer to the "race rights professionals" who have a vested interest in the Negro's current struggle to attain the status of a human being?... and who find it to their advantage in the areas of prestige and monetary profit to "keep something going"?

Does "responsible leadership" refer to men who like Mr. Young himself, profess a basic faith in the American way of life... in Christianity... in human nature... a faith which leads them to believe that a general facing of the facts of life in this age of rapid change, will lead the majority of Americans to accept and work toward the ideal of the Fatherhood of God and the Brotherhood of man?... regardless of race, creed, or color?

ANSWERED QUESTIONS

Mr. Young didn't leave the foregoing questions unanswered. He made it clear that "responsible leadership"... both Negro and white... North and South... means the influence and ascendancy of those who face facts and seek logical and reasonable solutions and not passionate and mob-action techniques. He indicated that the "Negro Revolution" won't be resolved by head-bustin' street fighting... however necessary that may be by way of indicating determination that something must be done... but by cool, deliberate, conference-table negotiation between men of concern and good will.

Mr. Whitney Young, Jr., said things that were good for the people who attended that "Equal Opportunity Day" banquet... at which famed Winthrop Rockefeller of Arkansas and the Rockefeller family... was the featured speaker. Mr. Rockefeller is a man of "cool, deliberate, conference-table negotiation" in the matter of race relations. He is a blessing to the state of Arkansas... even with Governor Faubus running loose! Selah!

'Let's Talk It Over!'

"LET'S TALK IT OVER!"
 "Let's Talk It Over!"

Above is the title of a Handbook for Parents, published by the Parents League of Memphis and Shelby County, organized last spring.

On the first page of the handbook it states: "The responsibility of guiding our children and helping them develop into reliable, well-rounded adults who are a credit to themselves and a contributing part of the community of tomorrow, lies in the hands of the parents of today. The environment of a good home does not just happen. It is built on solid principles of living, which should be enunciated with clarity to our children..."

WAY OF LIFE

The small green-cover, paperback, 16-page book goes on to discuss in brief paragraphs about (1) maintaining order in the homes (2) teaching children respect for authority (3) self-discipline (4) courtesy (5) good manners (6) giving and receiving (7) community responsibility (8) morality and religion, etc.

I am very pleased that the group of women who started the local Parents League recognized the need for "Talking It Over" and are doing something to teach our children some of the basic cultural patterns required in maturing into a well adjusted citizen, parent and a contributing factor in perpetuating the American democratic way of life.

PROPER GUIDANCE

I am of the opinion that many youngsters desire proper guidance in all areas of their life but it is non-available in their home. The overwhelming majority of such youngsters who are bereft of proper parental guidance develop emotion problems from which they never recover.

I think it is a good idea to let you know the officers of the League: Mrs. William M. Berton is president; Mrs. Robert Uterback, first vice president; Mrs. Brooks McCuller, second vice president; Mrs. Howell Woodson; Mrs. Jim C. Stone fourth vice president; Mrs. Fred D. Pultz, secretary and Mrs. Joseph Heare, treasurer.

NOBLE MEN

The next statement is likely to libel me to the suspicion of deliberately and flagrantly aiding and abetting the age-old Battle of the Sex: But believe me it is done without malice — however, whenever women band together to carry on a noble task in a community, you can bet your best good-luck piece that there is a group of men working equally as hard in their behalf to assure their project success. This is usual. So behind the noble women of the local Parents League are some noble men working as their Men's Advisory Council. They are:

Dr. Fred D. Pultz, director of the Presbyterian Guidance Center and Professor of Education and psychology at Southwestern university; Rev. Donald E. Mowery, executive director of the Youth Service of Memphis, Inc.; Dr. R. C. Rendtorff, associate professor of the Department of Preventive Medicine of University of Tennessee Medical school; Rev. Robert R. Richardson, pastor of Raleigh Presbyterian church; Paul L. Schwartz, executive director of the Jewish Community center; Captain Kenneth Turner, executive director of Memphis and Shelby County Youth Guidance Commission, who was elected Judge of Juvenile court in the Nov. 7th election; Rev. Edwin J. Wallin, CSP, assistant pastor of St. Patrick's Catholic church; W. C. "Bill" Weathers, assistant manager of Foote and Cleaborn Home Project; and Joseph W. Westbrook, supervisor of secondary education in the Memphis City Schools.

May the best crown the League's efforts with success.

HOMEcoming DAY

Homecoming at Lane College was indeed said to be one of the best ever and the most largely attended. Fate was kind and the sun pushed through the clouds to keep the anticipated rain away while fans watched a thriller of a game which ended with the Lane Dragons downing the Fisk Bulldogs by a score of 20 to 18.

Preceding the game was the walking parade led by two cars carrying the royalty, "Miss Lane College" and "Miss Dragonette." Wearing the title of "Miss Lane College" is Miss Carolyn Vaulx who had as her attendant Miss Regina McClawn. "Miss Dragonette," Miss Annette Hughes had as her attendants, Misses Margie Harris and Flora Harrell.

Other students walked in groups representing fraternal organizations, clubs, and class groups along with five bands from the West Tennessee area. The band performing for the half-time ceremonies was the fast stepping band from Dyersburg, Tenn.

SOME GUESTS

The stands were filled and there were so many out-of-town guests there, I simply can't begin to name them all; however I did get a chance to chat with Mr. and Mrs. Lynwood Hunter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert (Bob) Morgan, Virgil Pullman, Howard Wynn, R. D. Merriweather, and Sanford Holder of Chicago, Ill., John Collins, Walter Smith with his two daughters, and Nash Holcomb all of Gary, Ind. Mr. Collins also was accompanied by his two daughters, one who was a student at Lane last year.

From Memphis came Miss Dorothy Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Polk, Mr. and Mrs. Long, and J. D. Williams. From St. Louis, guest of your scribe, Harry Jones, Dr. and Mrs. Utley, and so many more from surrounding communities. Also guests of your scribe were Mr. and Mrs. John Culbertson and Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Thompson. He is Fisk athletic director.

The night following the victorious game a packed house was found on the campus with the undergrads with the homecoming dance in the college gymnasium. The Country Junction was the setting for the dance in honor of out-of-town alumni. Sponsoring the dance was the Jackson Pan-Hellenic Council. In all, it was a wonderful weekend.

Your scribe along with several Jacksonians traveled to Memphis last week to witness the Fashion Fair. Others attending this fabulous showing of the world's finest clothes by beautiful models were: Mesdames Bertha Collins, Rosetta McKissack, Marilyn Goldman, and Misses Johnnie Reid and Johnnie Murray.

EDUCATION WEEK

Educationally, we cannot forget our responsibility to our children and the parents in the Jackson City Schools attempted to make that come true by visiting the schools last week during American Education Week. Several of the schools, including Merry Sr. and Jr. High, Washington-Douglas, Lincoln, and South Jackson sponsored a parent-student night where parents came to school and got a chance to see what their children were doing in the course of a day spent at school.

In other schools, open houses were held and parent-teacher conferences, giving the parent a chance to go over his child's work with the teacher. It is felt that if the parents and teachers continue to work together, we will certainly have better children and better schools.

Jacksonians regretted to hear of the death of Mr. James Spann, retired railroad employee with the Illinois Central. Having been in ill health for a number of years, he passed at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Adalia Eilmore who now resides in Milwaukee, Wis.

In addition to her, he leaves his wife, Mrs. Lessie Spann, and three other sons, Dr. Frederick Spann of Los Angeles, Calif., and Roscoe Tyson and Rev. Paul Spann of Ann Arbor, Mich. He moved from Jackson to Ann Arbor to make his home with his sons a year ago along with Mrs. Spann.

Few Negro Carpenters On Board's Projects

Skilled Negro workers are in about 95 per cent of the roofing and cement finishing jobs let out on contract by the Memphis Board of Education, but seldom are employed in such fields as bricklaying and carpentry.

Those facts were revealed recently in an answer to questions submitted to the Board by the NAACP concerning the number of skilled Negroes currently employed by the Board, or currently being used on building projects of the Board.

Superintendent E. C. Stimbert said in the report: "This is a difficult question to answer because statistics do not stand still. It is impossible to state the exact number working on any particular day, because it would require a survey of all general contractors and sub-contractors. It would also involve a considerable change during that period."

HIRED BY HOUR

The superintendent said that skilled Negro construction mechanics are used principally in the cement finishing classification, and that they are hired by the hour for specific jobs. They are obtained, he said, through the business agent of the Local Construction Trade Union.

"Sometimes we will have as many as three or four cement finishers on a particular job being performed by the maintenance department and 80 to 90 percent of the time," he reported, "the mechanics supplied are Negroes."

The Board of Education, Stimbert said, works on a formal agreement with the local construction unions, and they send prospective employees. After the individuals submit applications, the Board selects the ones which best suit the need.

On jobs let out by contract, the superintendent said that it is not the Board's policy to say who should be employed.

The following is what the superintendent said would be a reasonable estimate of employment:

THE PERCENTAGES

Roofers: Approximately 95 per cent of all roofers employed on contract projects are Negro, and at times as many as 40 have been working on Board projects at one time.

Cement Finishers: Approximately 95 per cent of all cement finishers are Negro.

As many as 50 have been at work on a single day.

Lathers: Approximately 80 per cent are Negroes. As many as 10 have been at work on a single day.

Plasterers: About 80 per cent of plasterers are Negro. As many as 15 or 20 have worked on a given day.

Bricklayers: Very few Negroes have been used, and these are frequently on small jobs.

Carpenters: The employment of Negro carpenters on contract work has been infrequent, usually when skilled labor is in short supply.

Dr. J. H. Jackson Addresses 8,000 On Heritage Day

More than 8,000 heard Dr. J. H. Jackson in the historic Christian Heritage Day message. This is the largest service of his kind in the United States of America. This was the first time that the predominantly white Protestant group had invited a Negro speaker.

Dr. Jackson pointed out that present day mistrusts and tensions of the world have driven serious men to seek a solution to the problems through the quality of life proclaimed by Jesus of Nazareth. Said he:

Modern man has outgrown the military philosophy of the past, and knows there is no salvation through war and bloodshed. Unless the nations of the world can embrace and follow the moral and spiritual life as proclaimed by Christ, we shall move silently into the dark ages of human defeat and ultimate destruction.

The services were held in Freedom Hall at the Fairground. It began with a procession of 110 clergymen. Many were dressed as simply as Dr. Jackson who wore a blue coat, striped trousers, white shirt and charcoal tie. However others wore black robes and academic hoods, and cassocks with surplice and stoles.

The most elaborately dressed present was Bishop C. Eubank Tucker of the A.M.E.Z. Church who wore gold embroidered surplice, green stole, and biretta.

Local Surgeon Becomes 'Fellow' In American College Of Surgeons

A Memphis surgeon was among 1640 physicians initiated as a fellow into the American College of Surgeons during its 50th annual meeting held in San Francisco, Calif., Oct. 28, to Nov. 1.

Dr. G. W. Stanley Ish, Jr., became the first Memphis Negro surgeon to become affiliated with the medical organization. Thirteen other Negroes were inducted. A total of 3,900 fellows attended the five-day workshop as well as 615 candidates who are preparing to be initiated into the organization.

An all-time attendance record was set by the 12,430 delegation. The previous record was set during the annual meeting in Chicago in 1961. Some 11,685 attended—including representatives from throughout the world.

The College was established in 1913 by American and Canadian surgeons to exemplify and develop the highest tradition of surgeons, and to guaranteed as closely as possible that each member has met high standards in training, proficiency in practice and enjoys a good reputation in his personal and professional life.

The first Negro surgeon was accepted by the College in 1945.

Dr. Ish, chief of surgery at Collins Chapel hospital, is a native of Little Rock, Ark. He was graduated from Howard University's Medical college in Washington, D. C. in 1944. Immediately afterwards he entered general medical practice with his father, Dr. G. W.

Ish, Sr., who has practiced in Little Rock for 54 years.

After one year, the younger Dr. Ish started a general practice in Marion, Ark. After two years, he established an office in Memphis in 1950. In 1952 he entered the U. S. Army for a two-year hitch. During the time he was awarded the Bronze Star medal for "bravery under fire." After being discharged in 1954, Dr. Ish completed his residency in surgery at Tuskegee Veteran and Hines Veteran hospitals in Chicago. In 1957, he returned to Memphis as a surgeon at E. H. Crump and Collins Chapel hospitals. He was chief of staff at Collins until he resigned that position.

Accompanying Dr. Ish to the meeting of the American College of Surgeons were his wife, Sue, his parents, Dr. and Mrs. Ish, Sr., of Little Rock and his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Barnett of Chicago. Mrs. Barnett is the Miss Etta Moten. Barnett Director of the Associated Negro Press news agency. The younger Dr. Ish and his wife live at 1483 S. Parkway. They are the parents of a daughter, Etta Susan, 12.

SOCIETY

BY MARJORIE I. ULEN

The chronicles of social, civic, community, educational events of the past week were tailored to the perfection of members of the press . . . and thus, we are happy to give our COMMENTARY CANDIDS of the several affairs in a series that are barometers of the climate of the forward march of Memphis and the Mid-South.

MILADY was strictly in her element last Wednesday night, at The Auditorium Music Hall when scores of folk, with plenty of male counterparts in tow, viewed the 1963 EBONY FASHION FAIR AMERICANA which was sponsored by the Memphis Alumnae Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, whose good works locally and nationally were eloquently spelled out by Mrs. Houston Collier during the intermission of the distinctive fashion show.

Proclaimed by its producer and director, Mrs. John Johnson, wife of the publisher and editor of Johnson Publications, and the staff and coordinating committee as a "splendid show," we are in hearty agreement with the use and connotation of the word for the elegantly arrogant and understated look of the priceless collection and its vagaries of interpretation of haute couture fashions.

ACT ONE featured the collections of French and Italian designers for the "woman-in-the street." . . . Silhouettes for After-Hours . . . holiday and play and "The Gala Evening."

Following intermission . . . Act Two was the fashion extravaganza of Americana . . . bewitchingly staged as "Fifth Avenue Sophisticate" . . . "The Sportive Look" . . . "Fire-side Chats" . . . "Double Exposure" and "After-Five Aristocracy."

There were gowns of distinction too, representing good-section of businesses . . . and svelte, sophisticated lovely models from several metropolitan areas of the country, including popular Terry Springer, Model Jacy DeSouza of Milano, Italy, captured the imagination of the audience with her unusual stance in modeling.

Ebony Fashion Fair succeeds in its aim of presenting clothes of priceless and matchless beauty, far beyond the wildest dream of the average individual, about which every woman is Cindrella of all ages dream.

EQUAL OPPORTUNITY DAY
To borrow the phrase of Sir Winston Churchill . . . "This is our Shining Hour" . . . "This would best describe the MEMPHIS URBAN LEAGUE, Inc. . . . for having labored in the vineyard of race relations for these decades never has the time been more favorable for the type of leadership and inter-group action the league is geared to give, and neither has its guidance and cooperation been sought as it is today by the giant corporations of the nations and the straight-forward and thinking businessmen and leaders of our own fair city.

The elaborate and outstanding event featured an address by WINTHROP ROCKEFELLER member, board of directors of the National League and chairman of the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission . . . and son of the family which has pioneered in race relations long before the term was acceptable in polite society—so stated erudite and eloquent WHITNEY M. YOUNG, JR., executive secretary of the National Urban League.

DR. HOLLIS H. PRICE, chairman of the Board of Directors of the Memphis Urban League was toastmaster at the stellar event which was held in The Balinese Room of The Claridge hotel the same day as the meeting of the Southwide Committees of the Urban League held at the Claridge when Mr. Rockefeller was also the luncheon speaker.

Heartwarming was Edward J. Meeman, president Emeritus of The Memphis Press Scimitar's, "THE MEMPHIS STORY OF HUMAN RELATIONS" . . . which we hope will be published some day for the benefit of all people of the City of Memphis, for the Nation and for the world.

Personally, it had the effect of being filled with deep and abiding respect for the men and women in the community who have guided the major and minor decisions which have made Memphis indeed a "City of Good Abode." And approval of his plea for wise leadership in these changing times.

The Reverend S. A. Owen, pastor of Metropolitan Baptist Church gave a stirring invocation and set the tone of the auspicious speeches which were to follow.

To digress a bit, League Board of Directors covered themselves with glory in planning such a momentous event, and they include, beside Dr. Price, Ensley Tiffin, vice chairman; Mrs. Albert Rickey, vice chairman; B. T. Lewis, Jr., Treasurer; Mrs. Mae Fitzgerald, secretary, and Mr. Edwin Dalstrom, Chairman Emeritus.

Other directors are Rev. James M. Barr, Mrs. Phillip Booth, Judge Bailey Brown, Mrs. James Byas, Carl Carson, Dr. Peter Cooper, Mrs. Lillian Crowder, Forest Dickinson, Bert Ferguson, H. A. Gilliam, Taylor C. D. Hayes, L. B. Hobson, Rev. Blair T. Hunt, Rev. John K. Johnson, Rev. H. H. Jones, Miss Bernice Lansky, Mrs. Herbert Levy, B. G. Oliver, Edmund Orgill, Mrs. John Osoinach, Rev. S. A. Owen, Bishop J. O. Patterson, Charles E. Pool, Miss Dorothy Slate, John Spence, J. D. Springer, L. C. Walker, Roane Waring, Jr., Rabbi James A. Wax, Harold Whalum, Henry B. White, S. A. Wilburn, Rev. Charles Williams, J. D. Williams, and of course, the man at the helm of the pilot of the good ship, Memphis Urban League, none other than Rev. J. A. McDaniel, Executive Director.

The V.I.P. event had a gala air despite the serious tone of the banquet occasion, with punch served from a side table, and the menu was as distinctly delicious as the event was top-drawer with Neptune Seafood cocktail, roast top sirloin of choice beef, and natural, stuffed baked potato, French green beans, almondine, chef's Italianenne salad, apple pie with cheese and coffee.

The remarks of WHITNEY M. YOUNG, JR., like those of Abraham Lincoln at Gettysburg, were not the main address, but evolved into one of the most stirring, eloquent, sharply analytical analysis of the tempo and times and the role of race relations it has been our good fortune to hear. He introduced many of the guests who attended the earlier Southwide meeting of Urban League committees, including GEORGE BUTLER, education director of the President's Committee on Equal Opportunity, Dr. W. W. Swell of Jacksonville, Fla. Mr. Galliard of Birmingham; Dr. Kenneth Williams, Winston Salem, N. C.; Dr. Price, A. Maceo Walker, Dr. and Mrs. Leon Davis of Tulsa, Okla. Carl Carson, Edmund Orgill, Mrs. C. L. Dennis, New Orleans; Mrs. M. V. Glissman, Oklahoma City; Hubie Jackson and J. R. Henderson, Atlanta, Ga.; Paul Christopher of Knoxville; Mr. Rockefeller, Nelson Jackson, associate director of the National Urban League of New York City, H. Sweat, Ken Crooks of Atlanta . . . and many more.

Grand and inspiring was the address of Mr. Rockefeller, whose topic, "THE IMPACT OF THE QUADRUPLE A's" . . . developing the concept of absenteeism, accidents, anxieties, alcoholism . . . and the possible fifth A—apathy . . . as they tie in with mental health, to correct the injustices of the past, planning for the immediate future, and how are we going to continue planning and working together for the future, as concerns our presence in the midst of changing times, the challenges to individuals . . . and concerning the fact that 50 per cent of the people of this country will soon be employed in jobs that do not exist today," because we have gained more scientific knowledge in the world since World War II than since the existence of the history of mankind.

Rev. McDaniel stirringly expressed his gratitude to those who have been working ardently for almost 20 years and created the kind of climate in which a change like the one witnessed that night could take place . . . and presented his board of directors, who are working with the record of 30 years of pioneering in human and race relations.

CHIT CHAT
On the lighter side . . . the Urban League event presented to opportunity for your scribe to renew acquaintances with Atlantans HUBIE JACKSON and J. R. HENDERSON, who brought glad tidings of The A. L. Thompson, formerly of this city, and news about scads of friends in fabulous Atlanta. We were delighted too, to see MRS. THELMA BURKE of Forrest City, Ark., accompanied by her guest Mrs. M. P. Williams, a state home demonstration agent for the State of Arkansas; Mrs. R. H. Doggett and Dr. Lena Strode, both of the English department of Arkansas A. M. & N. College.

Chatting with DOROTHY and JOE WESTBROOK on leaving, we were glad to hear of the improvement in the condition of Dot's sister, SANDY GREENE WHITE, whose serious illness necessitated a trip by Dot and Joe to New York recently . . . and to learn that Joe was leaving early the next morning for the sunny clime of Jacksonville, Fla., for a meeting of Southern educators.

MRS. G. L. BROWNLEE went to Atlanta, Ga., recently to visit her son Leon, a student at Morehouse College, and enjoyed a wonderful week-end as the guests of Dr. and Mrs. William Jackson, Dr. Jackson, dean of Atlanta University School of Social Work. Mrs. Brownlee and Mrs. Jackson were close friends in college. At the Jackson's home, she had the opportunity to meet and chat with Mrs. Margit Vindberg, an evening's guest who is an assistant editor of a Scandinavian leading weekly magazine and also author several books, hailing from Stockholm, Sweden.

While in Atlanta, Mrs. Brownlee visited Mr. and Mrs. Butler Henderson, more college friends, Mr. Henderson the assistant to Dr. Benjamin Mayes, president of Morehouse; BERNARD JOHNSON, JR., son of Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Johnson a freshman at the University of Iowa, a '63 graduate of Father Bertrand high and winner of the Alpha Phi Alpha National Scholarship award, has been voted a member of the Student Senate Committee on Human Rights at the University. Locally, Bernard is a member of The Social Gents and the Memphis Chapter of Jack and Jill of America.

CONGRATULATIONS. . . . Proud and happy the congratulations to LeMoyné College on the Dedication of the magnificent Hollis F. Price Library and the unveiling of the magnificent mural done by creative artist Ben Shahn.

Last Saturday the college held a symposium on "The Arts in Education, with Acting DEAN LIONEL ARNOLD the moderator. WESLEY HOTCHKISS, general secretary of the American Missionary Association gave the introductory statement; The Arts in Education. Mr. Shahn discussed The Graphic Arts in Education; WILLIAM McCRAE, professor of dramatic arts at Grambling College discussed The Performing Arts in Education; ARCHITECTS FRANCIS GASSNER and THOMAS NATHAN of

Congregational Church To Hold Women's Day

Women's Day will be celebrated at Second Congregational church Sunday, Nov. 24 at the 11 a.m. worship service. Mrs. A. S. Hunnicutt will preside and Mrs. Diana Hayes will be the worship leader. The following women will address the congregation: Mrs. Fannie Moore Johnson, Mrs. Melba Briscoe, and Mrs. Juanita Williamson. Ushers will be the following persons: Mrs. Emma Jean Bell, Miss Almazine Davis, Mrs. Velma Slaughter, and Miss Emma Bell. Music will be rendered by the Manassas High School chorus under the direction of Mrs. Bobbie Blakely Jones. Rev. J. C. Mickle is pastor.

Gassner, Nathan and Brown, architects of the handsome edifice, jointly discussed The Building Arts in Education.

A luncheon culminated the historic event, and the unveiling took place on Saturday, rather than the following day, since Mr. Shahn had to leave town.

The Dedication Address was given on Sunday by the Ambassador from Sierra Leone to the United States, his Excellency Gershon Collier, who gave a stirring address on the interpretation of the freedom goals of his country and the role of the United States in the implementation and as an image of the words freedom and democracy.

Excellent music was furnished at the Sunday afternoon dedication event at C. Arthur Bruce Hall, given by the College Choir, under the direction of John Whittaker, head of the music department. MRS. WILLIAM FITZGERALD, Librarian of LeMoyné College gave the Welcome, and Greetings were brought to the college by EDWIN DALSTROM, WESLEY HOTCHKISS, DR. STANLEY ISH, LONNIE BRISCOE, DR. W. W. GIBSON, and THOMAS SAULSBERRY, representing Trustees, The American Missionary Association, Citizens of Memphis, alumni, faculty and student body.

President Hollis F. Price introduced the distinguished speaker.

President and Mrs. Price were hosts at a formal reception in honor of His Excellency, the Ambassador of Sierra Leone, and a complimentary guests of the AMA, at the president's home last Saturday night.

We must go to press, not having said all we would like to, not including everything of the wonderful week-for we must save the Sigma Gamma Rho Sorority's public meeting which featured outstanding Mrs. Vivian Bell of Jackson, Tenn., as guest speaker, in a fine address and occasion, which we will cover next week.

New LeMoyné Library Named In Honor Of Prexy Dr. Hollis F. Price

The peoples of Africa are emerging with pride and determination and are beginning to demonstrate that the black man is able to cope with the problems of the modern age and at the same time contribute to the well being and prosperity of men on this planet, declared Sierra Leone's ambassador to the United States in a dedicatory address Sunday at LeMoyné college.

A reception for Ambassador Collier was held Saturday night in Sweeney Hall, the presidential home of Dr. and Mrs. Hollis F. Price.

The American Missionary Association, which founded LeMoyné 93 years ago, also has had long contacts with Sierra Leone, the ambassador pointed out in his dedicatory address. "It is therefore with particular delight that I have accepted your invitation to speak on this occasion," he said.

The American Missionary Association, which has a long record of establishing and sponsoring universities, colleges, schools and missions throughout the world, set up the Mende Mission in Sierra Leone in 1846.

"These beginnings of co-operation between the United States of America and Sierra Leone did much to establish the foundations of the splendid relationship which now exists between our two countries," said the ambassador.

"And, what better occasion, than on this the dedication of a library here at LeMoyné can this relationship be dramatized? It has been a relationship in which the dissemination of knowledge has played a most significant part. Let us hope that in the years that lie ahead, knowledge of Africa will grow in the United States."

"Too often in the past," he said, "the people of Africa have been regarded as backwoodsmen, unwilling and incapable of entering the 20th Century. Mercifully enough, recent events in Africa have nailed this lie. We now see the peoples of Africa emerging with pride and determination to demonstrate for all to see that the black man is well able to cope with the problems of the modern age, and indeed to contribute in unique measure to the well being and prosperity of man on this planet."

Closing, he said, "It is a comforting and happy thought to know that in our efforts to solve our problems and face the challenges of our time, the people of Sierra Leone have your support and good wishes."

Lionel Arnold, acting dean of the college, served as moderator of the Saturday symposium, and members of Links, Inc. and young people of Goodwill Homes were in charge of the symposium coffee break.

A luncheon followed the symposium in the Commons. The Sunday speaker was introduced by President Hollis F. Price. Mrs. Mae Isom Fitzgerald, librarian at the college, gave the welcome, and greetings were given by Edwin Dalstrom, Dr. Hotchkiss, Dr. Stanley Ish, Lonnie Briscoe, Dr. Walter W. Gibson and Thomas Saulsberry.

By BILL LITTLE

Melrose and Booker T. Washington, co-champs for the Prep League football title this season, have agreed to meet in a history-making contest at Crump Stadium, Thursday night of this week to decide who will represent the league in the Annual Blues Bowl Classic slated for Dec. 6th.

CRUMP BATTLE DECIDES

Three weeks ago, these same teams locked horns with Washington emerging as a 21-18 victor in a cliff hanger at Melrose Stadium before an overflow crowd estimated in excess of 6,000. Because of an expected turnout that would again cramp the inadequate facilities at the Orange Mound playing site, a larger arena was sought.

Negotiations for the 30,000 seat capacity Crump Stadium didn't materialize until last Friday. In fact, the long-awaited announcement of the return struggle between the Warriors and the Golden Wildcats had the game about to be set for Melrose again.

However, after Board of Education officials went into a huddle with the Memphis Park Commission, (Crump is owned by the Board but is operated by the Park Commission) the game was finally confirmed for Crump. At first, the stadium management quoted figures contrary to those given to white schools. When this was learned, the Crump entrepreneur was notified that this was just another school-boy game and the Board of Education would pick up the tab for rental expenses as has been the case for white games. This ruled out having to agree to terms to pay the stadium a flat rental fee and a percentage of the proceeds over $3,000 or a straight cut on all fans that would click the turnstiles. 10,000 MAY ATTEND

A crowd of between 8,000 and 10,000 is expected to attend the return match which will mark the first time that two Negro high schools have played on the Crump field, located just behind Central High school.

If the weatherman co-operates, a larger segment could swell the attendance and justify moving more key battles to Crump.

When Arkansas A&M of Pine Bluff blasted Mississippi Industrial last December before a small crowd, it was the first time Negro squads have played in Crump Stadium, named in honor of the late political "boss." However, the color barrier had been broken when Hank Mosley and Bobby Watkins appeared with the Chicago Bears here in an exhibition game in the 1950's.

RUGGED CONTEST FORECAST

On the strength of its earlier conquest, Washington will be the prohibitive favorite against Melrose. Again Oscar Reed will be expected to shoulder the brunt of the offensive load for the powerful Warriors' offense. Quarterback Ronald Ester can also call on Eddie Richards to team with Reed to give the Warriors a double barrel weapon. But it might be the Slaughter brothers, Jim and Willie, who could make the difference.

Melrose can hold its own with a strong running attack built around Jimmy Ward and Leroy Moton; however, the Golden Wildcats have the potential to hit for the "long bomb" with end Bobby Smith's pass catching ability. Typical of the Smith threat was shown in the last encounter between these two rivals when he caught only one pass — that for an 80 yard touchdown.

Defense could decide the issue with each club sporting strong secondaries. Don't discount the surprise factors and some could be in store that might decide the tussle. Melrose's overall record is 8-1-1 against Washington's 9-1 season mark. Both had league records of 6-1.

CAGERS PULL LID

The exhibition season for basketball is in full swing and league champ Lester is showing the way with three victories in as many outings with wins over Woodstock and Capleville. Carver, which figures to be vastly improved this season, edged Mt. Pisgah and ran roughshod over Ripley last week, while Hamilton took its lumps from Barrett's Champ and Geeter.

Wesley Mitchell, fresh off the football field, showed his versatility by scoring 27 points to lead Manassas to a lopsided win over Ripley and returning to the gridiron later in the week to spark the Tigers to a 38 to 7 triumph over Mitchell Road before being ejected from the game in the third quarter for use of vile language.

Lester's Richard Jones, listed on one sport magazine's pre-season all-American team, has been under close scrutiny of numerous college quintets. Among the close observers has been Dean Elhers of Memphis State university.

'GOLDEN APPLE' FOR TEACHER

Dr. Isaac Miller, Jr., second from left, was presented the "Golden Apple" award recently from the Meharry Medical College chapter of the Student American Medical Association, and seen here presenting the plaque is Joseph Labat, president of the chapter, while looking on are Meharry President H. D. West, left, and Dr. E. G. High, right, head of the biochemistry department. The award is presented annually to the "Ideal Teacher" selected from a list of eight nominees by popular vote of the medical students. Dr. Miller has been given the Lederle Medical Faculty Award, 1957-60; he is a council member of Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies, and a referee in research participation of high school teachers program, National Science Foundation 1961. He is a member of Sigma Xi, Gamma Alpha and Phi Sigma fraternities.

Tennessee State Takes Jug From Kentucky To Win Midwest Crown

By EARL S. CLANTON, III

FRANKFORT, Ky. — A fired-up Big Blue Eleven and the deadly passing arm of senior Dave Boone combined to give Tennessee State the Midwest Conference Grid Crown when the Tigers shelled Kentucky State 26 to 14 last Saturday afternoon.

Fewer than 1,200 fans saw Coach John Merritt's All-American choice Boone rifle four touchdown passes while completing 11 of 17 serials for 89 yards and the fourteenth consecutive "Little Brown Jug" victory of the 15 years that the cracked-lipped crock has stood as the winner's symbol in this ancient rivalry between the Tigers and the Thorobreds. It is a 5-3 record for the Tigers now.

Scoring in every period, the Merrittmen tallied in the game's first five minutes when Boone fired a six-yarder to Charlie Powell standing in the end zone.

Keeping the pressure on 9:11 yet to play in the third

LeMoynes Magicians To Unveil This Season's Talent During Intrasquad Game Friday Night

LeMoynes Magicians unveil their 1963-64 talent in an intrasquad basketball game this Friday night, Nov. 22, at 8 on the Bruce Hall floor. Coach Jerry Johnson will mix freshmen with veterans, throwing the Purples against the Golds.

The game is sure to give Memphians a good idea of what to expect from the Magicians during the approaching season. Tickets are selling for 60c (adults) and 25c (students) and proceeds will enable players to purchase traveling jackets.

Those who have had the opportunity to see the Magicians working out are of the opinion that Coach Johnson is coming up with his finest squad.

He has seven promising freshmen: James Sandridge, all-Memphis and high scorer last season, from Melrose; Franklin Shelton, also all-Memphis, from Douglass; Marian Brewer, from Booker T. Washington; Clearthar Morris, from Mt. Pisgah; two "jumping jacks" from Indianapolis, Edward Brents, 6-3 forward, and Thomas Harding, 6-6 center, and a 6-5 center in Robert Hardaway from Cincinnati.

Veteran starters returning planned," Coach Merritt commented after the game. "Boone called a beautiful game and stayed with the game plan, keeping the ball on the ground and passing only when necessary."

MUCH SATISFACTION

"I was very satisfied with the pressure we kept on both the passer and their very fine punter," he continued. "Winning this game and my first Midwestern Conference championship is one of the very fine features of my first year at Tennessee State."

are Capt. Robert Hambrick from Chicago, James Gordon from Louisville and Monroe Currin from Halls, Tenn. Other veteran dependables on the squad are Jimmy Charlton from Syracuse, Paul Lowery from New Brighton, Pa.; Verties Sails and Cleophus Owens of Memphis.

Sox Must Include Pitcher In Any Bid For New Faces

The Chicago White Sox are in a trading mood, and there are a number of teams willing to listen—but there is a catch. Most wanted Sox players, are the pitchers, something manager Al Lopez and general manager Eddie Short do not wish to talk about. The Sox have in Gary Peters, Juan Pizarro, Ray Herbert and even Frank Bauman, pitchers severe-al teams would like getting in trade. However the Sox management has said "no" to all offers for one of the four twirlers.

The Sox are in need of strengthening in several positions, mostly behind the plate and in one outfield spot but not serious enough to part with one of team's front line pitchers.

Negro Men Honor Distaff Leaders At Awards Banquet

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Contributions of the Negro women during the Emancipation Century received accolades from Negro men at a Tribute Awards Banquet Saturday in the Congressional Room of the Statler Hilton Hotel.

The recognition was one of the highlights of the 28th annual convention of the National Council of Negro Women.

Presentation of the unique awards was made by a Negro man of comparable eminence. Records show such tribute was without precedent in the Emancipation Century. However, the concept was consistent with the theme for this year's convention: "The Negro Woman in the Emancipation Century."

Honorees and their fields of achievement were Mrs. Harriet Wright Hines, Philadelphia, Pa., business; Mrs. Daisy Bates, Little Rock, Ark., civil rights and education; Mrs. Diane Nash Bevell, Atlanta, Ga., civil rights and youth leadership; Dr. Flenmie Kittrell, Washington, D.C., education.

Royal's announcement came just two weeks after the University Board of Regents lifted any curb on any student activity, including athletics, because of race or religion.

Royal said he had just completed a meeting with University Administrative Officials on the integration of athletics at the state's biggest school.

"Any bona fide eligible student is welcome to try out in any sport," he said.

Asked if Negroes would be offered scholarships at Texas, Royal said, "we will recruit anyone who will fit in our program. That is, anyone who qualifies academically and athletically."

Royal was asked if his recruiting staff had any Negro athletes in mind to begin working on.
